

For the week of:

07 | 19 | 2021

On This Day...

MONDAY 7/19

In 1922, Johnny Weissmuller broke the minute barrier for the 100m freestyle swim race with 58.6s. The record is now at 46.91s, but that could change with the Olympics approaching!

TUESDAY 7/20

The International Chess Federation was founded on this day in 1924. Celebrate International Chess Day by grabbing a friend and playing the strategy-filled game!

WEDNESDAY 7/21

Happy National Hot Dog Day! Today is dedicated to the love we have for this perfect ballpark food. Over 25 million hot dogs are sold at baseball stadiums each year.

THURSDAY 7/22

If he doesn't like your fruit jokes, let that man-go! The summertime fruit that can be eaten multiple different ways is celebrated today on Mango Day.

FRIDAY 7/23

The Tokyo Summer Olympic Games are finally beginning today! After a year of delays, the 339 events will now be able to take place with the world watching.

DID YOU KNOW?

• There are 63 national parks in the USA but only one is named after a person:

Theodore Roosevelt National Park in the North Dakota Badlands. When Roosevelt served as President from 1901 to 1909, he established more than 200 national parks, forests, wildlife reserves, and monuments across 230 million acres of public land.

• Benjamin Franklin was one of 17 children and his formal education ended at the age of 10.

• Mickey Mouse was the first ever cartoon character to talk. In the 1929 episode, Disney's The Karnival Kid, Mickey Mouse's first words were "Hot dogs!"

• New sports have been added to the Olympic Games! The sports include karate, surfing, sport climbing, skateboarding, baseball (men), and softball (women). A total of 474 more athletes will be able to take part in the games because of the additions.

IN OTHER WORDS...

"Now is the time to join together in prayer and pro-life education to end the carnage caused by the abortion industry against women and their babies."
