How are you preparing for Valentine's Day?

Lisa Anderson, host of The Boundless Show encourages singles to, "Come up with something life-giving to do — something where you can share joy and bless someone else. Write someone a card, invite friends over, show love to a widow in your church. The possibilities are endless. Decide now, if you're single and unattached, to not be down in the dumps on February 14. You can make a difference in someone's day. "

"Remember this: Even for believers who struggle with sin, there's no better place to be than in the nail pierced hands of the Savior."
